WHY SPONSOR?

HACKNEHS...

- is a hackathon where student developers can create anything from scratch by exploring ideas.
- gathered 150 high school students and ambitious coders who love technology from 60+ schools during 2019.
- provides an opportunity for developers to collaborate in teams and get help from experienced mentors.
- allows novices to get hands-on experience working on real world problems and learning valuable skills.
- is a competition where developers can receive feedback and prizes from capable judges.
- raised $10k+ from sponsors like the Abbot Academy Fund and Microsoft.

Brand Perception

Boost your company's public relations, brand perception, and product popularity with logos on our website, t-shirts, and marketing material.

2

Make An Impact

Provide local high school students with a unique opportunity to create an innovative project and develop a lifelong passion for technology and entrepreneurship.

3

Product Testing

Help hackers build cool software using your API. At the same time, receive feedback on your products and APIs from a wide variety of talented students, who are open to mentoring, recruiting, and connecting.

We are a group of passionate high school students who love computer science and want to bring together like-minded students from across New England to brainstorm creative ideas in our communities.

SPONSORSHIP TIERS

We need meals, snacks, and beverages to keep the hackers sustained and satisfied, APIs for hackers to use in their projects, company representatives to lead training workshops and judge the competition, prizes for the winners of the competition, and any awesome company swag (pens, t-shirts, etc.) that you want to share with hackers.

If you would like to co-host or sponsor a meal, please email us directly at info@hacknehs.org. Otherwise, refer to the sponsorship tiers below. Even if you can't contribute financially, we'd still love your support! Contact us to discuss alternative methods of sponsorship, for example sending mentors, prizes, or company swag to the event. We'd certainly appreciate products and swag and count them as a financial contribution to HackNEHS.
